

GIFTED STUDENTS

AT TRINITY GRAMMAR SCHOOL PRIMARY SCHOOLS

JUNIOR SCHOOL (SUMMER HILL) AND PREPARATORY SCHOOL (STRATHFIELD)

At Trinity Grammar School we appreciate the need for differentiated teaching and learning. All learners are not the same. Not every gifted student is the same. Teachers at Trinity Grammar School with specialist training in gifted education understand the specific and yet diverse needs of gifted learners. The Gifted Education Coordinator along with the Trinity Education Support Services (TESS) team, guide and provide welfare for gifted students.

The Primary Years Programme (PYP – International Baccalaureate Organisation) provides a curriculum framework based on best practice, for primary education, enabling teachers to modify and extend curriculum ideally suited for gifted and/or talented students. Units of inquiry provide the opportunity for students to build on existing knowledge, engage in conceptual, in-depth, suitably paced, structured inquiry-based learning, exploring attitudes, critical thinking and problem solving. Learners make connections between learning experiences and with real life experiences, leading to application and action. The internationally-minded PYP also provides the opportunity to learn a language other than the language of instruction.

We believe sustained interaction with intellectual peers provides significant support, stimulation and encouragement for students with special gifts and talents in all curriculum areas. Our teachers understand that gifted students benefit from a variety of learning situations. Therefore, within the PYP framework the flexible extension groups provide opportunities for boys to work both individually and in small groups.

At Trinity Grammar School, we believe in the important nexus that exists between Mind, Body and Spirit. Catering for the needs of gifted students therefore extends beyond the classroom. Co-curricular activities are an integral part of school-life and richly enhance the lives of gifted students.
